Among the numerous works that have been published since the days of Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations, there are none, on the above subject, that have attempted to give an exposition of the science based upon a Cycle of Seasons, in each decade, beginning on a specific, and ending on a definite year, making within this period a full decade of ten years, and thus, as it were, repeating the same or nearly a similar course each decade, thus forming a regular periodic Cycle of Seasons. In treating the above sciences upon this principle, it renders them much more practical, more closely applicable to the real or actual business of life; their truths are more readily apprehended or understood; they explain themselves under a more easily remembered formula. The subject of a Cycle of Seasons has always been a trying if not a difficult one to work out by a statistical evolution. I am myself ashamed to acknowledge, after more than twenty years of thought, of labour, and almost endless correspondence upon this question,...
