On January 27, 2010, Porfirio Pepe Lobo Sosa was inaugurated President of Honduras, assuming power after seven months of domestic political crisis and international isolation that had resulted from the June 28, 2009, ouster of President Manuel Zelaya. While the strength of Lobos National Party in the legislature has enabled the government to secure passage of much of its policy agenda, the Lobo Administration has made only limited progress in addressing the challenges inherited as a result of the political crisis. Several efforts to foster political reconciliation, including the creation of a truth commission and the passage of a measure to enable constitutional reform, have done little to lessen domestic polarization. Moreover, human rights abuses have continued, and the country has failed to secure recognition from some sectors of the international community. In addition to the political problems inherited as a result of the 2009 ouster, Lobo has had to contend with a weak economy. Honduras suffered an economic contraction of 2.1 in 2009 as the global financial crisis, together with the domestic political crisis, led to significant declines in tourism, remittances, and export earnings. Lobo has pushed a number of reforms through Congress designed to restore macroeconomic stability, strengthen . . . This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
